RE: MB Docket No. 10-56

Dear Chairman Genachowski and Commissioners:

I am writing in regard to the proposed joint venture of Comcast and NBC Universal that is currently under consideration by the Commission. As someone who has seen the enormous good accomplished by Comcast's engagement with our school, our children, and our local New Jersey community, I am hopeful that the Commission will view their transaction positively.

Started in 1968 by a group of concerned parents, Larc School is located in Bellmawr, New Jersey, and provides services to families from five counties in the South Jersey region. We are a non-profit special education school serving students with a wide range of moderate to severe disabilities. Larc School offers programs for students ages 3 to 21, with services provided at no cost to families. Our small class size, individualized educational program and excellent 3:1 student-teacher ratio gives us the ability to truly know and meet the needs and capabilities of every child.

Larc School has greatly benefited from its partnership with Comcast. Through support from the Comcast Foundation the young people we serve benefit from assisted technology within our library that allows them to unlock new worlds of knowledge despite sometimes overwhelming physical challenges. Comcast has also strongly supported our community fundraising efforts, which are an essential part of continuing Larc School's work well into the future.

Comcast's dedication to the Larc School is only one part of the company's larger commitment to inspiring confident youth and building strong communities. They have also been generous supporters of complimentary programs like City Year, Big Brothers Big Sisters, United Way, and many others which benefit our students and their communities.

We remain deeply appreciative for Comcast's assistance in helping Larc School meet the needs of our students. I hope you will keep this in mind as you and your fellow commissioners consider the proposed venture between Comcast and NBC Universal.

Sincerely,

Susan Weiner
Executive Vice President,
The Larc School
